

Bodegas Albamar

Crafted by Xurxo Alba from old vines, this Albariño from Rías Baixas is a true expression of the O Salnés terroir, celebrated for its bright, precise flavors and organic cultivation.

Finca O Pereiro Albariño 2021

Rias Baixas, Spain

Region and Vineyards

This Albariño hails from the Rías Baixas region in Galicia, Spain, specifically from the sub-region of O Salnés, renowned for its Albariño wines. Located close to the Atlantic coast, the region enjoys a cool, maritime climate with frequent coastal breezes that help moderate temperatures and prevent disease. The terroir combines clay soils layered over sand, which contributes to the wine's saline minerality and vibrant acidity. This vineyard's proximity to the ocean lends a unique coastal character to the Albariño grapes, imbuing them with a distinct freshness.

The Finca O Pereiro vineyard spans just one hectare and consists of 35-year-old vines grown organically. Organic farming is a particular challenge in this humid, rainy region, yet Bodegas Albamar persists with this natural approach, contributing to the wine's purity and expression of place. The grapes are meticulously hand-harvested, preserving their delicate flavors and natural acidity, while the old vines yield intensely concentrated fruit.

Winemaking

The Finca O Pereiro Albariño is crafted exclusively from Albariño grapes, harvested by hand and processed with meticulous attention to detail. The grapes undergo a spontaneous, whole-cluster fermentation using native yeasts—a rare method in this region—that enhances the wine's depth and complexity. Fermentation and subsequent aging take place in stainless steel tanks, which preserve the freshness and clarity of the Albariño.

The wine is aged sur lie for 12 months, giving it added texture and richness without the use of oak. Only a minimal amount of sulfur dioxide (SO₂) is added at bottling, and the wine undergoes slight filtration, with no fining, ensuring a natural expression of the vineyard. This winemaking approach highlights the grape's inherent qualities while maintaining the region's distinctive saline minerality and brightness.

Tasting Notes

- Color: Pale straw with a bright, clear rim.
- Aroma: Aromas of green apple, citrus zest, and oceanic salt, intertwined with hints of white flowers and wet stone.
- Palate: Crisp and mouthwatering with a prominent saline minerality, featuring layers of lemon, lime, and a touch of peach. The texture is rounded yet vibrant, leading to a long, refreshing finish.

Did you know?

Winemaker Xurxo Alba works from a cellar adjacent to his family's restaurant and artisan food shop in Cambados, Galicia, where Albariño is a way of life. Bodegas Albamar began bottling its wines in 2006, marking a new chapter in their multi-generational Albariño legacy.

Wine Pairing Ideas

- Galician Octopus (Pulpo a la Gallega): The wine's saline notes and citrus freshness complement the tender, slightly smoky octopus and its garnish of sea salt and olive oil.
- Oysters with Mignonette: The crisp acidity and minerality of the Albariño are a natural match for the briny, delicate flavors of fresh oysters.
- Grilled Sardines with Lemon and Herbs: The wine's acidity cuts through the richness of sardines, while its citrus notes enhance the lemon and herbs.
- Spanish Tortilla (Tortilla Española): The savory, creamy notes of the tortilla pair beautifully with the Albariño's freshness, creating a balanced and satisfying combination.

Robert Parker (RP) : 96 Points (2021)

I love the nose of the 2021 Finca O Pereiro. 2021 is the first year when they put the wine through 100% malolactic, which happened in the middle of the super slow and long fermentation. It might have given the wine something different, but I see more complexity here than in previous years. It's complex and elegant, and the palate is seamless, with vibrant acidity, explosive flavors and a long finish. Since 2019, the wine has matured in a 5,000-liter oak foudre. This has to be the finest and most complex O Pereiro to date, with nuance and tension.
