Pinot Noir 2022

Marlborough, New Zealand

Region and Vineyards

Mahi Pinot Noir is sourced from select vineyards across Marlborough, a premier wine region on New Zealand's South Island. The wine combines fruit from Twin Valleys in the cooler Fareham Road area and vineyards in Ward, 45 kilometers south of Blenheim. The Twin Valleys vineyard imparts finesse and structure, enhancing the wine's vibrant freshness, while the Ward vineyard contributes richness and depth, offering bold black fruit characters.

Marlborough's climate, with its sunny days, cool nights, and free-draining soils, allows for the slow and even ripening of Pinot Noir, creating wines with bright acidity and concentrated flavors. This terroir plays a critical role in shaping the complexity and balance of Mahi Pinot Noir.

Winemaking

The grapes for Mahi Pinot Noir are harvested by hand and treated with minimal intervention to respect the natural expression of the fruit. The majority of the grapes are destemmed, with about 20% left as whole-bunch clusters, a technique that enhances complexity and texture. A cold soak before fermentation extracts soft tannins and vibrant color.

Fermentation occurs with indigenous yeasts in small vats, where the juice is gently hand-plunged twice daily. Post-fermentation, the wine is transferred directly into French oak barriques (a portion of which are new) for 15 months of aging, allowing the flavors to integrate and mature. The wine is then carefully racked, blended, and bottled without fining, ensuring purity and depth.

James Suckling (JS) : 93 Points (2019)

This has very attractive aromas of fresh red cherries, as well as a gently spicy edge and rose hip, as well as leafy nuances. The palate has a fresh and spicy feel with a core of ripe, fresh red-cherry flavor. Silky tannins. Very drinkable now. Screw cap.

James Suckling (JS) : 92 Points (2018)

A very bright and attractive pinot that has aromas of nectarines, peaches and light red cherries with a succulent, tangy palate that draws vibrant, pure fruit flavor on a fresh finish.

Robert Parker (RP) : 90 Points (2017)

The 2017 Pinot Noir includes about 30% whole bunches, which have no doubt contributed to this wine's unique spiced aromas of clove, coriander and orange rind. There are plenty of cherries as well in this medium-bodied red, supported by softly dusty tannins and crisp acids on the zesty finish.
