Tatou Pinot Noir 2013

Marlborough, New Zealand

From vines grown in Tatou vineyard, where the soils are stony and free draining, with a mixture of larger rocks and fine gravels. The vines are cropped to produce one bunch per shoot, and this fruit is handpicked and completely destemmed before being fermented with wild yeast.

A highly fragrant and expressive Pinot Noir, showing proud mature notes of cedar and dried herbs interlaced with floral notes.

The palate is structured and savoury, unveiling a serious Pinot Noir that has had time to mature and develop elegance, showing silky supple tannins and a lengthy finish.

Alcohol :13,50 %

Composition: 100% Pinot Noir

Robert Parker (RP) : 91 Points (2013)

Pale ruby colored, the 2013 Tatou Pinot Noir has a somewhat restrained, earth and mossy bark-laced nose to begin, opening to a core of red currants and cranberries with meat/game nuances and a waft of yeast extract. Light to medium-bodied, the palate reveals lovely harmony with delicate red berry and earth flavors supported by fine tannins and finishing with an herbal lift.
